

Change Management

Turn lack of understanding and change resistance into acceptance and successful implementation

No organization can survive if it is the same today as it was yesterday. Competitors, customers, suppliers, political environments etc. are all changing. Competition is like you doing everything possible to maintain a competitive edge.

When a change is necessary, part of the people affected will always resist. Some will not want to go where the organization is going, some will not want to go through the process of change, some will be afraid of what the change will mean to them as individuals and some have bad experiences from previous change processes.

If resistance is not dealt with, the change process will slow down, daily productivity will decrease and the result of the change will be less than anticipated.

With an offset in Change Management theory and vast experience in implementing change Kreaps® offer consulting to enhance the change process and increase success.

Consulting will assist the client in

- Identifying and reducing fear of, and resistance to change.
- Establish a more smooth change process.
- Maximize the value capture of the change.
